Another example of Public Controversy

Here is a debate between two former CIA officers, regarding the U.S. role in a coup in Indonesia in 1965. Is there anyway one can ferret out the truth from this exchange?

[Ralph] McGehee: ... the CIA prepared a study of the 1965 Indonesian operation that described what the agency did there. I happened to have been custodian of that study for a time, and I know the specific steps the agency took to create the conditions that led to the massacre of at least half a million Indonesians...

Hugh Tovar: ... I am rather shattered by these allegations... I was in charge of CIA operations in Jakarta at the time, so I would have been the primary instigator of the massacres that allegedly took place. In fact the CIA served primarily as an intelligence collecting operation in Indonesia, and did not engage heavily in covert action... We certainly did not instigate the 1965 revolt. We had nothing to do with it [emphasis added].
